Looks good.
Can we still add separators in Admin menu to separate the user management menu items from others?

Also use capital letters for both "Bulk" and "Hierarchie" (or if you prefer for none). I only checked German version but please also handle English version consistent if necessary.

Also we could move "Media" down in the menu as it is less important than specimen.

Moving media down unfortunately is not that easy because the bulk editor menu is dynamic making it hard to reference the items within the menu from other extension points.

I propose we close this ticket and if we have time we can maybe refactor the bulk editor menu to be declarative.

Ok. Can you close this ticket and open the new one for refactoring?
