Yes, if all functionality is available via right click.

Ok, all implemented now

With right click menu we have now the possibility to distinguish "add" (on top level) and "add child". This should be implemented.

#6 - 07/22/2017 09:14 AM - Andreas Müller

It is great that the selection distinguishes vocabularies and shows them in a tree structure. Unfortunately the terms are not ordered, this is urgently necessary for larger vocabularies.

#7 - 07/22/2017 09:35 AM - Andreas Müller

It looks like multiple usage of 1 feature in the same feature tree is currently not supported. If I e.g. select a feature that is already in the feature tree nothing happens. Is this on purpose?

Maybe needs discussion. There are usecase where we want multiple usage, e.g. for structures in a structure tree (feature tree might become term tree in future). Maybe we need a flag to allow or not allow multiple usages, depending of the type of feature tree)

Generally all issues fixed or moved to new ticket.

However, the dirty flag does not seem to work correctly. This needs to be fixed urgently.

Adding a new feature tree should set the focus to the new tree. Also the label should be updated in Details View after focus is set.

and after changing the titleCache

#21 - 01/16/2019 02:20 PM - Andreas Müller

Paste not possbile on feature tree

#22 - 01/16/2019 02:22 PM - Andreas Müller

Feature trees should be ordered alphabetically

#23 - 01/16/2019 02:25 PM - Andreas Müller

Having a move up/down in right click menu would be a nice nice-to-have as d&d is sometimes a bit cumbersome when moving terms between something. Also it is always good to have >1 possibilities to do something.

this is also relevant because currently adding a new feature at a certain position in the sibbling list is not (yet) possible so moving is necessary if you want to add a term a position != last position

#25 - 01/16/2019 02:30 PM - Andreas Müller

Except for the above issues the context menu works fine and looks much better and is more consistent with general TaxEditor usage.

I remember that we discussed this and it was not clear if we want to export only part of the tree. I move this to a new ticket -> #8003

If we do not implement it, we should completely remove it from the menu, so let's do this for now and add it again when #8003 is implemented

This is not yet implemented. I created a new ticket #8060

So we can close this ticket now.
