Severity:	critical
Description Before the misapplied name details view was developed it was possible to edit concept relationships in the details view. To do so, open concept relation view, add a concept relation and set the focus on. In the details view should appear a selection of the rel type and reference information (as far as I remember). Now the misapplied name details view appears with all name information, only difference the relationship type label differs depending on the type. This is not wanted as the MA details view is specific for MAs. For all other relationship types it should look different. By default it should look like the old details view. This is critical because a regression and needed for RL 2020.
