sure

#3 - 03/11/2022 04:38 PM - Andreas Müller

- Due date set to 04/22/2022
- Category changed from taxeditor to documentation
- Assignee changed from Andreas Kohlbecker to Katja Luther
- Target version changed from Update Documentation to Release 5.45
- Start date set to 04/01/2022
- Estimated time set to 2:00 h

Before updating we need to decide if we do/want to have this documentation at <https://cybertaxonomy.org> at all. Isn't it better to link to the installation manuals?

Or is the idea that the text is created from the same original source by the manual make jenkins job (<https://int.e-taxonomy.eu/jenkins/job/EDIT-Platform-Manual-MAKE/>).

#4 - 03/11/2022 04:38 PM - Andreas Müller

- Priority changed from New to Priority14

#5 - 03/11/2022 06:28 PM - Andreas Müller

- Target version changed from Release 5.32 to Release 5.33

#10 - 09/15/2022 12:20 PM - Katja Luther

the mac and linux installation descriptions are added to the installation document. On cybertaxonomy.org I changed the menu entry and the description to "Installation" without "for Windows", so we can close this ticket.

In chapter 1 there is still missing information which version is the recommended version for linux. Do we have any recommendations?

In linux instructions it says "Run the executable file TaxonomicEditor.exe within that folder to start the editor." Do we really have an .exe file in linux? I would expect an .sh file or something similar.

In the mac version there is a typo "... Applications folde and double-click ...". Folder misses an "r".

#14 - 10/04/2022 04:37 PM - Andreas Müller

- Priority changed from Priority14 to Priority13

Under linux the version without jre works, so I would recommend to use this version.

The file is only TaxonomicEditor without any file endings.

Has this been updated in the doc files?
