As mentioned in the original mail (please always copy these mails completely - or at least the part that is relevant content wise) I think it is better to abbreviate "Nomencl.". Now the label has a line break which is bad for UX.

Again, in my original mail I mentioned to maybe change both, Nomenclatural title and Nomenclatural cache to Nomencl. xxx.

Now it looks strange to have both versions. Please also abbrev the first one.

Now again we have a line break for some labels which is not good for UX and not necessary I think. Maybe this is OS dependent. Can we add a bit more space?

I disabled wrapping for all detail view elements. Please also click through some other details views. I think this looks nicer now.

I checked at some places and it looks well. I think if we find places with too long labels we should decide in future on the fly how to shorten them (or handle them somehow else).

One label we could try to shorten immediately is "Gathering Event Description" => "Gathering Description" in Gathering Event Details View.
