Description
There are different kinds of "views" for specimens lists
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• some of them provide a pager others do not• do operate on different webservice response types (FieldUnitDto, ...) and are thus not exchangeable.
The three views
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Treeview (bottom up view from field unit to all derivatives) #7599• "compressed" Specimentable: #6816, #6870, #7685, #....• Specimen path (top down view from derivate to field unit)
TODO
<ol style="list-style-type: none">1. Decide on using a pager for the sepcimen list or not. This has to be seen also with focus on the occurrence map. IMHO the map should always show all occurrences. Now the map provides info-boxes which will technically linked with the entries in the specimen lists, so that the according list entry in turn gets focused/opened. This requires that all specimens are present in the list, or that the list can automatically scroll/jump to any specimen entry. Examples for pages with for with many many specimens!!!<ul style="list-style-type: none">◦ http://campanula.e-taxonomy.net/cdm_dataportal/taxon/cdcacbdba-11c0-4cb8-a2e0-8d7abc5ae756/specimens?pager%5BpageNumber%5D=0◦ http://floreafriquecentrale.org/?q=cdm_dataportal/taxon/635e8aa8-64ad-477f-a64e-b74756d05f95/specimens2. Unify specimen views to that all of them are working with DTO response types.3. Display of modifiers:<ul style="list-style-type: none">◦ if a modifier is given a space is missing between the name and the modifier◦ preferably use abbrev label for the modifier, only if not available use label (however, the determination modifiers are not yet correctly implemented in the model as they can be found at various positions in the name, so we need a model change and a fomatter for these before it can be handled really correctly
