

EDIT - bug #8784

Deleting a specimen description not possible

Description
Currently it seems to be impossible to delete a specimen description.
In the specimen LIST editor specimen descriptions are not shown (for good reasons).
In the specimen TREE editor I tried to delete a description but with no effect. First I tried to delete a specimen description which is referenced by a descriptive data set and I thought that the reason for "no effect" was that the description was still referenced. But also after creating a completely new, empty and unreferenced description it was not possible to delete it.
Also I tried to remove a description from a descriptive data set but there was not possibility to remove it (#8785 , not really true, see #8785#note-7 und #8785#note-8).
The "occurrence" I used for testing was the field unit for tissue sample B GT 0023421 from caryophyllales_spp. So this is a test case.
Also after fixing this ticket please remove the both specimen descriptions from the field unit (as it is in production). Please do the same for the field unit of B GT 0023392 which also has an empty description referenced by the now invalid dataset "INVALID: Korotkova Cactaceae Morphology"

- Priority changed from New to Highest
- Severity changed from normal to blocker

I put this into the current milestone because it is a blocker for undoing incorrect/unwanted data entries.

#2 - 12/19/2019 11:57 AM - Katja Luther

- Status changed from New to In Progress

this is already in process because I already found this problem while working on #8782

#3 - 12/19/2019 11:58 AM - Andreas Müller

- Related to bug #8785: Move functionality of buttons to context menu of the character matrix added

Hi Katja, I just tried to delete the "test data" as described in the description of this ticket and as required in comment 11 but I couldn't find any. Did you already delete them or do you have an idea why there are not there anymore?

Yes I already deleted them, because it was part of the ticket. So we can close this ticket?
