Description
The latest version of ehcache-core is 3.8.1 but has a different groupId since version 3.0 so we need to check if this is still working together. Also we should check if cdmlib-remote-dependency-hibernate-ehcache is really needed. It relates to the similar library ehcache (not core) and therefore many classes are duplicated. Removing hibernate-ehcache from maven pom does not create any compile problems. => seems to be fixed in the meanwhile, hibernate-ehcache is not a dependency anymore

The different versions have different sizes. The old version net.sf.ehcache-core and the very new version org.ehcache have 9MB.

Therefore we should discuss if we really want to use net.sf.ehcache. Better we migrate cdmlib-cache to org.ehcache and keep net.sf.ehcache-core as long as it is referenced by any dependent library.

org.ehcache has completely new namespaces and a couple of changes. Therefore it is not compatible to any 2.x version at all.
