Description TitleCache of teams does not contain all team members therefore it is difficult to differ teams with same first team members but different third or fourth team members. The selection dialog should show all team members, therefore we need to create the cache string on server side.

This is very much related to #9326. Generally we should store all authors in titleCache, not only the first3 or 4. Only the abbreviated chaches should be abbreviated and handled with et. al. (if at all). This holds for agents and references. Once this is fixed the selection dialog will be automatically show all memebbers.

It does not make sense to implement this separately.
