This still does not work

By the way, it would good to use an underscore before the default title like "_New feature tree". Also having the focus and selection in the title cache field of the new feature tree. I don't know if this is easy to fix. If not, please open a new ticket.

I tested on nightly and it works? Did you update?

Yes I did and I tried again and it does not work.

What I do:

- Open term tree editor for features in rem_conf_am
- Select "New Tree" from menu
- Set focus to newly created tree (item)
- go to details view and change the shown title from "New feature tree" to "Test persisted" (the new title is immediately visible in the tree)
- press save
- wait
- after a while the title in the tree is reverted to "New feature tree"
- close and reopen the term tree editor => title is still "New feature tree"

Unfortunately the changeset also includes the name changing of the classes so I can't see in the code what you have done or if there was a misunderstanding

Actually I could not find why the newly created tree can not be edited before saving. When the tree is persisted you can edit the title and it is saved. I would put this ticket into 5.23 because with saving before editing the title there is a workaround for this problem.

Maybe we can have a look to this again, now, as there is still some time for the release. If not possible to solve before release move to next version.
