Please review

... and please remove commented code in the respective method if not necessary anymore. Please also have a look to the "count" method in the dao which still looks like the commented code in the other method (but count currently does not seem to be used currently). We should clean this up.

It should be adapted for the list of vocabularies, too.

The used method is listByTermType()

The deduplication of terms works as expected, removed the commented code, so this part of the ticket is resolved and can be closed, I adapted the listByType method in vocabularyDao, could you have a look at it, please.

I works.

I changed the code the way that it calls the existing method to avoid redundant code.

As this does not change semantics I think we can close the ticket.
